March Of Dimes Opens, Pointed At Record Goal

Wilson Warns Polio Far From Beaten Despite Gains

With "More in '54" as their slogan, volunteers in Pickaway County were teamed with workers throughout the nation Saturday to launch the March of Dimes, annual drive for funds to support the fight against polio.

Pointing out that vaccine tests and gamma globulin programs had boosted the cost of checking spread of the crippling disease, County Campaign Director Joe Wilson said the national goal this year has been set at $75 million. He explained:

"We know we're going to need at least $7½ million for the vaccine validity tests this winter alone. In addition, the March of Dimes already has been committed to the purchase of at least twice as much gamma globulin for 1954 as in 1953, at a total cost of $19 million.

"Gamma globulin inoculations represent the only stop-gap treatment there is against polio paralysis, until a vaccine is tested and found effective."

WILSON WENT ON to emphasize the cost of the new polio prevention program—a total of $26½ million—will be in addition to the consistently high cost of maintaining financial aid for needy polio cases. Also to be continued will be the March of Dimes program of professional training, epidemic services and laboratory research.

In view of progress made through exhaustive test programs, many scientists have expressed belief 1954 will be the "year of decision" in the long struggle to find a reliable weapon against the disease. The call for "More in '54" has been largely based on this hope for important gains in anti-polio research during the next 12 months.

There is no accurate method, Wilson pointed out, to estimate the total amount of money needed for support of the laboratory tests plus a continuance of the annual battle against the disease. He said:

"We know roughly how much we can earmark for laboratory research, how much for scholarships to train specialists, and how much will likely be needed for gamma globulin and vaccine tests. At the same time, however, the fact that the chapter never knows in January how many cases it will be called upon to aid later in the year poses the biggest question mark for the

Ike Confers Again With His Advisers

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower, nearing completion of work on a series of messages to Congress, confers again today with administration advisers.

The President scheduled another early morning session in his office at the Augusta National Golf Club. He started the new year yesterday with a four and a half hour morning conference on the State of the Union message which he will deliver to Congress in person next Thursday.

Then Eisenhower went off for a round of golf while his aides worked on into evening on the document.

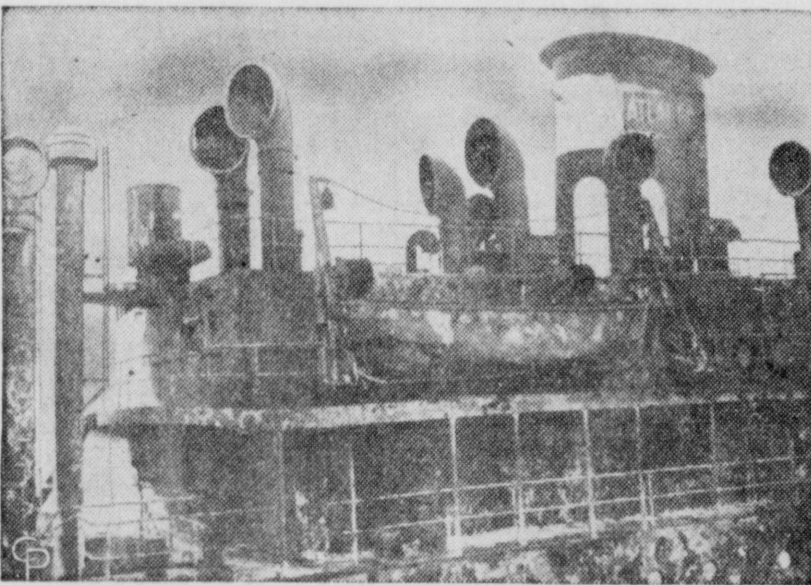

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, reported after the morning meeting that "quite a lot of progress" was made toward whipping the message into final form. Work also continued on the annual budget and economic reports to Congress.

The conferences here are being attended by Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge; Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations; Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, head of the Office of Defense Mobilization; Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's top assistant, and other White House aides.

Eisenhower already has completed a report he will make to the nation on his administration's first year in office.

Both vessels burst into flames, but no one aboard the Engineer was injured. The Dealer burned 8 hours.

Senator Plans Urging Curb On Activities By McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gillette (D-Iowa) said today he will ask the Senate to curb broad investigative powers in the field of international relations now being utilized by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

"This is a glaring situation," Gillette said. "It is something that was never intended and I will ask the Senate to pass on it at the coming session."

McCarthy is chairman of the Government Operations Committee and of its more widely known permanent investigations subcommittee. For the most part the subcommittee has functioned as a one-man affair with McCarthy working alone. Other members of the group have made themselves conspicuous by their absence.

Gillette said he wants the Senate to rescind authority for the Government Operations Committee to investigate international affairs and give this solely to the Foreign Relations Committee, of which Gillette is a member.

ALTHOUGH HE has tangled with McCarthy in the past, Gillette made no mention of the Wisconsin senator in explaining why he sought the change.

"International relationships are delicate now and will be for an unforeseen time," Gillette said. "The Senate has given its Foreign Relations Committee authority in this field. We all know that careless actions or statements in this field can jeopardize our international status."

Gillette's proposal followed by a day a remark by another Democrat, Sen. McCarran of Nevada, that the investigations subcommittee in its investigations of communism "has stepped over into a field where it was not intended to function at all."

British Peer Dies

LONDON (AP)—Lord Norwich, eminent British politician, diplomat and man of letters, died yesterday aboard the French steamship Colombie off Vigo, Spain. He was 63, was Alfred Duff Cooper before he was raised to the peerage in 1952.

However, McCarran said nothing about attempting to curb McCarthy's activities. He said on the contrary he thought the investigations subcommittee has "done good work," and emphasized there was nothing personal in his remarks.

The Nevada said, however, he thought the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, of which he is senior Democratic member, "can do all the work necessary on the Senate side" in investigating subversive activities.

Still another Democrat, Sen. Sparkman of Alabama, said: "If something should be done about McCarthy, why don't the Republicans do it? It's not our problem."

Firemen Probe For Cause Of Columbus Fire

COLUMBUS (AP)—Fire inspectors searched the smoking ruins of a six-story downtown commercial building today in an attempt to determine the cause of this city's biggest fire in years.

The blaze destroyed the McClure-Tritschler-Parrish Co., a wholesale dry goods firm, and forced evacuation of the nearby Reid Hotel, from which 30 guests fled into the chilled New Year's night air.

Two firemen were injured, neither seriously.

The flames, fed from a broken gas line, raged out of control for several hours, attracting an estimated 15,000 persons to the area, just three blocks from the heart of the city. Fiery embers and sparks endangered some of the spectators and the intense heat forced others to retreat from their positions a block away.

Within an hour after the general alarm fire was discovered all the floors of the structure had collapsed. In another hour two of the walls followed.

There was no immediate estimate of the damage, but company officials said the building and its contents—dry goods, men's haberdashery and women's clothes—were insured.

New Year Holiday Traffic Toll Lags

Ohio Accidental Death Record Far Behind Christmas Tally

By The Associated Press
The nation's traffic death toll over the New Year's weekend holiday is running behind the Christmas total by at least 100.

There have been 136 persons killed in highway accidents since the survey started at 6 p. m. Thursday (local time). In the corresponding period for the Christmas holiday the toll was 237.

The violent deaths since New Year's Eve was 180. They included 24 persons who perished in fires and 20 others who lost their lives in miscellaneous accidents. The 180 compared to 285 in the same period during the Christmas holiday. The final Christmas traffic death total was 523.

Apparently determined not to repeat their ignominious record of the Christmas holiday weekend, Ohioans were driving with more caution during the New Year's holiday period.

DURING THE Christmas weekend, 37 Ohioans lost their lives in accidents, 30 of them in traffic, the third highest toll in the nation. Ohio was running in seventh place this time. New York was leading with 19, California was second with 14.

Root Says Pay For City Police Needs Revision

Oscar Root, named to take over the post of city safety director, declared Saturday that the present pay scale for police in Circleville needs "some adjustments."

In his new position under the administration of Mayor Robert Hedges, one of the main tasks for Root will be supervision of the police department. He also said some methods used currently in operation of the department also need revision.

Root, whose office as justice of peace expired last Thursday midnight, made his announcement shortly after Police Chief Elmer Merriam disclosed a change in the force's personnel. Merriam said Sgt. Alvah Shasteen had been returned to the rank of patrolman at Shasteen's request.

A provisional appointment to the sergeant's post, Merriam said, has been given to Officer Charles Smith. It was understood the provisional period will run for 90 days.

IN REVEALING his views on the police pay scale, Root said he did not want to go further into the subject until the next meeting of City Council, scheduled next Tuesday. Many other potent topics, in addition to the police pay scale, await consideration by the lawmakers.

Root, however, did indicate he feels Chief Merriam is underpaid. He also pointed out a new man joining the force now receives the same pay as a patrolman who may have been on the force for a long time.

Malayans Seeking Jungle 'Creatures'

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP)—Police jungle squads in Perak State switched today from hunting Communist guerrillas to search for three hairy manlike creatures with fang-like teeth and wearing loin-cloths.

The three appeared for the first time on a rubber estate at Trojak and terrified Chinese and Malay workers who were tapping trees.

But G. M. Browne, manager of the estate, said the strange visitors did not appear unfriendly.

He discounted suggestions that they were Communist guerrillas in disguise or former Japanese soldiers who had been in the jungle for eight or nine years.

"The fang-like teeth is one point against either theory," he said.

With the New Year's weekend almost at the half-way point, seven accidental deaths have been recorded by the Associated Press, six of them in traffic mishaps. At that rate, the state will fall far short of the 45 accidental fatalities tabulated during last New Year's holiday. The 1953 traffic total for that period was 37.

The Christmas total is included among the National Safety Council's estimated 38,000 persons killed in traffic accidents in 1953, the same as in 1952.

It was the first year since 1949 that the toll did not increase. The council said 1953 had the lowest mileage death rate in the history of traffic accident records. It was estimated at 6.9—the number of deaths per 100 million miles.

The council had estimated 360 persons would be killed in motor mishaps during the New Year's weekend ending midnight Sunday. However, Ned H. Dearborn, council president, said if the present rate was maintained for the rest of the holiday period the toll would be under 300, the lowest New Year's traffic death toll since 1949.

"APPARENTLY the shock of the heavy Christmas holiday traffic toll plus the incessant emphasis placed on safety by the press, has sobered New Year holiday drivers into better traffic behavior," Dearborn said.

There were 407 traffic deaths for a four-day New Year weekend last year while the record for four days was 611 in 1951-52. A non-holiday death toll survey, from 6 p. m. Dec. 3 to midnight Dec. 6, showed that 310 died in traffic accidents, 33 in fires and 89 in miscellaneous accidents.

More Natural Gas, Phones Slated In Ohio

COLUMBUS (AP)—More telephones and natural gas for heating homes is forecast for 1954 by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Rate increase applications may be expected from telephone and electric power companies to finance improvements, Ohio Bell, largest in the state, has already asked an $8 million rate boost.

During the last two years, the commission has ordered at least four of the large independent phone companies to make extensive improvements.

To cure Ohio's heating gas shortage the commission is banking on an 860-mile gas pipeline expected to pour 350 million cubic feet of gas per day into the Columbia Gas System. Ohio is using half the output of Columbia Gas.

The commission authorized thousands of additional gas furnace installations in Ohio last year and Columbia approved 37,261 additional gas heating applications.

Frank M. Quinn, chief commission truck law enforcer, says he has been revising the truck enforcement record system and hopes to have a new safety program by spring. His most vigorous campaign is against overloaded trucks.

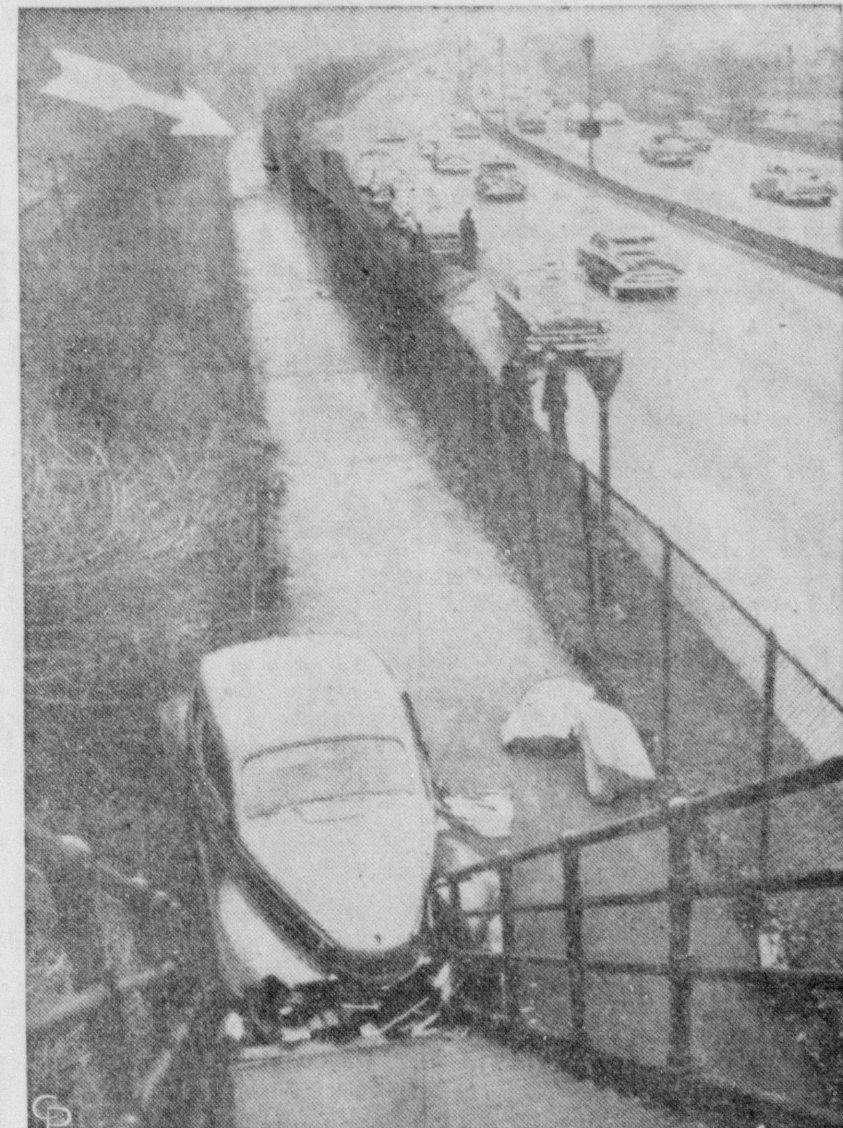

Biggest overloading case still pending is against Ohio Transport, Inc., a Cleveland trucking outfit.

The Ohio Supreme Court decided the commission has the power to revoke a trucker's operating rights in Ohio if there is sufficient cause.

Climbers Survive Mountain Storm

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Three climbers, isolated overnight by a sudden storm on the snow-covered slopes of Mt. Hood, walked into Timberline Lodge yesterday.

Fred Hart, Corvallis, Ore., Art Maki, Ridgefield, Wash., and Layden Walsh, Olympia, Wash., were apparently unharmed by the ordeal. They set out Thursday morning, hoping to be the first 1954 climbers to reach the peak of the 11,245-foot-high mountain east of here. When the storm hit, they waited out the night.

DRIVEN BY George B. Keener, a car leaves the West Side highway in New York City at point indicated by arrow, crashes through a heavy cyclone fence and runs along the pedestrian walk for 200 feet before smashing into the stairway to an overpass. Keener was shaken up.

U.N. OKs POW Head Count, But Commies, ROKs Opposed

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The U. N. Command today gave the Indian Custodian Command a sweeping endorsement of its head count of Chinese prisoners of last Thursday, a count that both the Communists and South Korea angrily protested.

The U. N. Command said it regards "as a normal and necessary administrative action" the head count which gave 135 pro-Communist Chinese POWs their chance to return home.

The formal U. N. statement said: "If this checking of the prisoner of war rosters affords some prisoners an opportunity to request repatriation, this is in conformity with United Nations Command policy that every effort should be made to ensure that every prisoner in the custody of the Indian custodian force should have every opportunity to make a free choice as to where he wishes to go."

The statement diametrically opposed the stand of South Korean Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai, who protested the head count on behalf of his government.

AN INDIAN spokesman said the Red protest came late Thursday, immediately after the check that returned 135 Chinese prisoners to the Communists out of 4,385 prisoners questioned.

The Indians asked no questions. They simply called prisoners from the enclosures' 10 compounds, three at a time, separated the men, had them write their names and serial numbers on a slip of paper, and marched them past a gate where an Indian officer checked his master roster.

The 135 took this opportunity to ask for repatriation.

The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission met for an unusual confidential session today and it was reported the Communist protest was discussed.

An Indian spokesman declined to say so specifically, but announced afterward that a "memorandum will be sent to both sides." Pyun bitterly criticized the head count as a violation of armistice terms providing a 90-day period for explanations to prisoners who refused to go home. This period ended Dec. 23.

The ROK foreign minister hinted that steps might be taken to liberate about 8,000 anti-Communist Koreans in Indian custody if the head count continued.

The Communist protest against the head count apparently was based on the fear that such action by the Indians might compromise demands for extended explanations.

16 Japs Killed In Rush To Greet Emperor

TOKYO (AP)—At least 16 persons were trampled to death and 30 were injured today as an estimated 700,000 subjects swarmed around the Imperial Palace to extend New Year's greetings to Emperor Hirohito, the newspaper Asahi says.

Kyodo News Agency said the vast throng got out of hand at the deadline for signing the imperial register and offering best wishes to Hirohito.

The crowd swarmed toward the gates of the palace grounds as police tried to bar the entrance at the deadline, Kyodo said.

Thousands who had not yet had a chance to sign the register tried to push through. Men, women and children fell under the feet of the onrushing crowd.

There was no immediate word on whether any Americans were among the dead and injured.

The English language Japan News said the crowd gathered in hopes that the Emperor might make a public appearance.

The News said two American Marines helped Japanese police rescue persons knocked down by the crowd and prevent a possibly higher death toll.

Before the war only titled Japanese were allowed to enter the palace grounds and sign the imperial register. Since the war, however, everyone is eligible.

8 Kids In Family Go To Hospital

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—St. Francis Hospital had space for eight more patients today when the Bill Duke's family moved out. Yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Duke took eight of their 10 children to the hospital to have their tonsils removed.

For nearly two hours the path to and from the operating room "resembled an assembly line," nurses said.

Returning GI Says Prison Leaders Armed

Young Texan Believes Other Americans May Seek To Come Back

SEOUL (AP)—A young Texas corporal, one of 23 American war prisoners who originally stayed with the Communists, said today "there might be others who would come out" if given protection from dagger-wielding fellow POWs.

Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor, who asked yesterday to go home, called for an investigation of conditions inside the pro-Communist neutral zone compound and said Indian guards should search it for hidden weapons.

Batchelor, of Kermit, Tex., is the second of the 23 Americans to ask repatriation.

His story of life in the wire-enclosed compound near Panmunjom, told during a 40-minute press conference here, conflicted at many points with reports of the Indian command on conditions in the stockade now holding 21 Americans, 1 Briton and 327 South Koreans.

In New York, Frank (Pappy) Noel, Associated Press photographer who for months also was a prisoner of the Reds, said he was convinced Batchelor was no Communist. Noel said he and the young Texan had planned an escape to gether, but the opportunity never arose.

THE 22-YEAR-OLD corporal calmly faced a battery of newsmen, cameras and microphones as he made these points:

1. Both South Korean and American pro-Red prisoners in the camp are armed with daggers to intimidate any prisoner who wishes to escape. "It would be difficult at times for the Americans to get out."

2. Chinese Communist leaders have "some contact" with prisoners in the neutral zone compound.

3. "A lot of fellows there are quite mixed up and there might be others who would come out" if they had a chance.

4. All outgoing letters from the camp are written jointly and read to the other prisoners.

5. The prisoners are split into factions and the leaders of various groups sometimes fail to pass on information given them by Indian officials.

Indian spokesmen have said repeatedly there are no weapons in the compound and that it would be a simple matter for any prisoner wishing repatriation to contact a guard.

Batchelor's calm and poise contrasted with the extreme nervousness of Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson of Big Stone Gap, Va., who was repatriated Oct. 22.

BATCHELOR repeated his statement of Friday that tender love letters from his Japanese wife, Kyoko, played a major role in his decision to return home. He said a growing suspicion of Communist motives finally persuaded him about a month ago to return.

Irate Postmaster Locks Up Stamps

ALICE, Tex. (AP)—You couldn't buy a stamp in this city's postoffice today because an angry woman postmaster had locked 'em up and walked out.

Charging "politics" because she is to be replaced, Mrs. Marguerite Mullen yesterday put all cash on hand and stamps into her postoffice vault, clanged the door shut, turned the office over to a clerk and left. Mrs. Mullen, a Democrat, has been postmaster here since August, 1934. Last month Asst. Postmaster General N. R. Abrams notified her she would be replaced. Mrs. Mullen charged she was being "fired for political reasons."

U.S. Officials Skeptical Of Big 4 Parley

Spokesmen Point Out Kremlin Still Can Call Off Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials expressed hope today that the Berlin foreign ministers meeting actually will open Jan. 25, but they said the Russians still can stall the conference if they wish.

Strong suspicions about Russia's tactics persist because one of Moscow's main purposes in the project is believed to be to delay French action on the proposed European Defense Community and so to delay Western plans for controlled rearmament of West Germany.

Russia can forward this aim by keeping alive hope of successful East-West negotiations, either by promising conferences or actually holding them. The brighter the prospects of international peace by negotiation, the less pressure, presumably, Frenchmen would feel to accept EDC and thereby abandon their deep rooted opposition to any revival of German militarism.

Notes which the Western Powers handed the Soviet Foreign Office yesterday accepted Jan. 25 as the opening date for the Berlin meeting agreed also to a Russian proposal that the place of the meeting be determined by Big Four officials in Germany and said that there is no point now in any further talk about an agenda for the conference since the ministers themselves will be meeting soon.

POSSIBILITIES of further delay are conceded:

1. The French government is to be reorganized in mid-January after the new president takes office.
2. A site must be selected for the conference. The Western Powers proposed the Allied Control Authority Building, which the Russians do not like. There is some speculation that the Soviets may alternatively propose a former broadcasting headquarters which they control in West Berlin. That almost certainly would meet with ready Western acceptance.

But there also has been speculation that the Reds would propose alternating the sessions between East and West Berlin or among the four occupation sectors.

Despite difficulties such as the problem of uninhibited news reporting by Western correspondents, authorities here say such arrangements could be worked out.

If the Russians should unexpectedly insist that the meetings be held in East Berlin, the Western Powers, according to Washington officials, would reject the idea.

March Of Dimes Opens, Pointed At Record Goal

March of Dimes in any locality.

"All we have to go by is the fact that 1953 marked the sixth consecutive year of a high polio incidence. With a record like that to give warning, it would be foolhardy for us to expect a letup in polio during 1954."

Wilson said approximately 68 cents of every dollar contributed to the March of Dimes throughout the nation has been spent on direct financial aid for polio patients. This includes serious long-term cases, hundreds of whom must be kept in iron lungs. Others, less serious, may simply require new braces or periodic physical therapy treatments.

IN ALL SUCH cases, when the persons involved are unable to meet the costs of treatment, help is made available through the March of Dimes campaign. The drive each year has drawn heavy support in Pickaway County, and early indications were the current drive will set new high marks.

Wilson said: "We have the largest number of volunteer fund raisers in the history of Pickaway County already working for us this year. Both in Circleville and elsewhere in the district we have been greatly encouraged by the way the various clubs and organizations are planning special events to help raise money."

"We thus have good reason to expect that this will be our most successful March of Dimes so far."

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

SHIRLEY M. DREISBACH
Shirley Morris Dreisbach, 65, former Pickaway Township resident, died unexpectedly Friday morning at his home in Columbus following a heart attack.

Mr. Dreisbach, who was born Feb. 8, 1888, in Pickaway Township, was the son of Clifton R. and Lina Hitler Dreisbach.

In addition to his widow, Mrs. Hazel Redman Dreisbach, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Festus Walters of Columbus, and three brothers, Marvin, 133 E. High St., and John and Henry Dreisbach of Pickaway Township.

Mr. Dreisbach, who was a real estate and insurance salesman, moved to Columbus in 1937. He was a graduate of the old Everett High School, class of 1908, and attended the University of Illinois and the Tennessee Military Institute. He was a charter member of the Logan Elm Grange, the P. O. on a Grange, the state and national grange.

He was a member of the St. Philip's Episcopal Church in Circleville, where funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday with the Rev. Jack Bennett officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery.

Friends may call any time at the Defenbaugh Funeral Home.

JEANIE DIANE DANNER
Jeanie Diane Danner, 18-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Danner of Mead, died at the family home Friday.

She was born Dec. 14 in Berger hospital. In addition to the parents, she is survived by a sister, Joyce Louise Danner; the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arisius Wine of South Bloomingville; the great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gilpon of Adelphi, and Charles Danner of Ashville.

Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. Sunday in the Mead Methodist Church with the Rev. John B. own officiating. Burial will be in the adjoining cemetery by L. E. Hill of Kingston.

Friends may call any time at the Danner family home in Mead.

Some Philanthropists Give Away Money, But Boyle Divvies Credit

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—There are two kinds of philanthropists — those who give away money and those who give credit.

We have decided to become a philanthropist this year, and have decided to start off by giving away credit, which is all anybody ever gave us.

The simplest way to give credit where credit is due is to start a foundation and present a series of annual achievement awards. But this is a crowded field. There are already so many foundations giving awards for merit of one kind or another that the average fellow is bound to win one himself sooner or later, if he merely abstains from striking his wife in public.

So, instead of recognizing any special performance in any particular field, our philanthropic foundation is dedicated to the recognition of anybody we can see on a clear day. If the other foundations have overlooked you, just write us and tell us what you want an award for doing or not doing and we guarantee to recognize you, if your handwriting is legible.

Here are our first awards for the old year of 1953:

The year's best-dressed turkey — the one we had for Christmas.

The most outstanding salesman — President Eisenhower, who convinced Charles E. Wilson he should sell $2½ million in auto stock to take a government post.

The event likely to have the most impact on history — death of Joseph Stalin.

The event likely to have the least impact on history — our birthday.

The most frustrated plumber — Martin Durkin, who made the right connection, then lost his pipeline.

The most unusual over-the-hill — Joe Walcott, who lost a throne by being knocked on his seat of empire.

The decision least likely to hurt Florida's tourist industry — lifting of the Soviet ban against foreign travelers.

Boy writer showing most literary promise — Nobel prizewinner Winnie Churchill.

Retired cop with least chance to get job guarding pearls gates — Lavrenty P. Beria of Russia.

The year's busiest ghost — Harry Dexter White.

The ghost everyone would like to see twice as often — the one that walks on paydays.

The man who did most to prove that Horatio Alger's "strive and succeed" formula doesn't always work out — Charlie Dessen of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The prisoner who got the least applause for good conduct — Alger Hiss.

The prisoners most likely to get homesick in 1954 — the American POWs in Korea who wouldn't come back.

The convalescent with the best chance of regaining his old strength — the American dollar.

The year's leading wrong-guesser — the weatherman.

The most persistent life of the party — Harry S. Truman.

The most enjoyable tumble of the season — the drop in the cost of living.

The guy who got the mostest for the leastest — the Red pitied of communism, who landed his MIG plane behind Allied lines and was astounded to learn he had earned $100,000.

The fellow who took the most abuse without talking back once — the pithead man, who proved you can get by for years with the jawbone of an ape, if you just keep it shut.

Editor Stresses Safety, Is Injured
WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Miss Rebecca F. Gross, editor of the Lock Haven Express, was in "satisfactory" condition at the William sport Hospital today following amputation of both her legs.

The 48-year-old newspaperwoman was injured in a two-car collision in the early hours of New Year's Eve as she drove to the airport here to meet her sister.

Ironically, Miss Gross had just finished writing an editorial entitled "Who Wants to Start the New Year in a Hospital or a Morgue?"

Youth Missing
CLEVELAND (AP)—Chester I. Burnett, head of the Police Missing Persons Bureau, was out hunting today for his own son. George Burnett, 15, has been missing for 48 hours.

Rubber Chief Dies
WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Funeral services will be held Sunday for John J. Smith, 62, vice president of the Denman Tire & Rubber Co. of New York and a former director of the Denman Rubber Mfg. Co. of Warren. He died New Year's Eve.

2 Holy Communion Services Planned At First Methodist

Two services of Holy Communion will be observed at the First Methodist Church Sunday, at 8 a. m. and at the 10:30 regular morning worship hour.

At both of the services the Rev. Robert B. Weaver will give a short meditation on the meaning of the sacrament and will interpret the significance of the sacrament to everyday life.

The Rev. Charles Thomas and the Rev. Sam Elsea, retired Methodist ministers, have been invited to participate in the communion services.

Special music has been arranged for both services. Nancy Hughes will sing a soprano solo at the 8 a. m. service, "God Is A Spirit." Mrs. Harold Deffenbaugh will lead the senior choir in the anthem, "A Prayer," for the 10:30 service. Mrs. Ervin Leist has chosen "Come Unto Me," "Consolation," and "Air Antique" for the organ selections for both services. The communion services are open to any person or persons who desire to come.

Both the Junior and the Senior High Methodist Youth Fellowship groups will meet at 6 p. m. for their regular meetings. The Junior High group will have a special recreation program following the worship and study period.

Calvary Church Due To Observe Communion Rite

Holy communion will be celebrated at the 9 a. m. Sunday worship service of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper is observed at least once every quarter by the membership of Calvary church. The service to be conducted Sunday will be a regular quarterly communion service, and the Rev. James B. Recob also will serve communion to the shut-ins of the church in their homes.

During the worship hour, the Rev. Mr. Recob will speak on the subject "I Press on Toward the Goal."

The Rev. Mr. Recob says: "This subject finds its origin in the words of St. Paul who, when writing to his Philippians church friends, said, 'Forgetting what lies behind... I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus.'"

"The context of these words suggests that the goal toward which Paul pressed on was three-fold in nature: that he might know Christ; that he might be like Him; and that he might finally be with Him. No lesser goal is worthy of a modern Christian's attention."

Dale DeLong, church school superintendent, will assist the pastor in conducting the morning worship service. Mrs. Andrew Goeller will sing a vocal solo during the worship hour. She will be accompanied by Miss Minnie Wilkerson, who will also accompany the congregation in the singing of hymns.

Communion Rite Planned Sunday For First EUB

First Evangelical United Brethren church will begin the New Year with a holy communion celebration at the 9:30 a. m. Sunday unified worship service.

"Landate Dominum" is Mrs. Verneal Thomas' organ prelude, followed by the Fidelis Chorus professional hymn, "Holy! Holy! Holy!"

Church School Superintendent Edwin Richardson will assist in the order of worship by issuing the call to worship, offering the invocation, leading in the reaffirmation of a common faith in praise, doctrine and prayer and reading the scriptural exhortation.

Rev. Troutman Set To Resume Duties

The Rev. George L. Troutman will officially resume his duties as full time pastor of Trinity Lutheran church at the 10:15 a. m. worship service Sunday.

This will be the first regular worship service he has conducted since last June when ill health made it necessary for him to take a leave of absence. For his meditation on this first Sunday of the new year, the Rev. Mr. Troutman has selected Philippians 3:13,14, which he will develop under the theme, "A New Year Of God's Grace."

The sacrament of Infant Baptism, and installation of the new church officers will be held in connection with this service.

Epiphany Theme Is Readied For Presbyterians

The first worship service of the New Year in Presbyterian church will be in celebration of the twelfth night after the birth of Christ, which is the Epiphany, or arrival of the Kings of the Orient who came asking, "Where is he that is born King of all nations?"

The record of their arrival will be read from Holy Scripture in Matthew 2:1-12, by Don Davis, pre-ministerial student who is home for the Christmas season from his senior year in Ohio University. Larry Thornton, also a student for the gospel ministry, will lead the congregation in a responsive reading of Scripture from the 15th chapter of the Gospel of St. John, a conversation between Christ and His disciples concerning a new way of life for a new era among men—a practical choice for all to make at the beginning of a New Year of our Lord, 1954.

The Rev. Donald Mitchell will preach on the theme, "None Other Name"—"for it has become well known in the course of human experience the world around, that there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved."

The choir, directed by Mrs. Clark Will, is to sing an anthem, "Rejoice Greatly," and will lead the congregation in singing the hymns, "The Church's One Foundation," "All Beautiful The March of Days," and an Epiphany hymn, "As With Gladness, Men of Old, Did the Guiding Star Behold."

At 7 p. m., Westminster Fellowship will meet in the chapel for devotions. Phyllis McCoard will play the prelude. Bear Stevenson and Raymond McFee will lead devotions. Plans will be made for Westminster "Fellowship Day." Chris Weldon and Eddie Donitz are on the program for recreation.

At 8 p. m., the Rev. Mr. Mitchell will be in Logan to take part in the installation of the Rev. Earl F. Schottke as pastor of the Logan Presbyterian church which has been without a regular pastor for a short time.

Society To Meet At St. Joseph's

Regular meeting of the Altar Society of St. Joseph's Catholic church will be held Wednesday in the church basement following Benediction, which begins at 7:30 p. m.

The Altar Society will observe Communion Day Sunday at the 8 a. m. Mass.

Benediction will be held at 4:30 p. m. Sunday.

God Revealed in Christ

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—John 1: 20-31.

By Alfred J. Buescher

When John the Baptist appeared men asked who he was. He told them, "I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness. Make straight the way of the Lord, as said the prophet Esaias."

The next day John saw Jesus coming toward him and John said, "Behold the lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world. This is He of whom I spoke."

The next day John stood with two of his disciples: Looking on Jesus John said, "Behold the Lamb of God," and the two disciples heard him speak and followed Jesus.

Andrew was one who followed Jesus and he found his brother Simon and told him, "We have found the Messiah, which is, being interpreted, the Christ." MEMORY VERSE—John 20:31.

Golden Rule Set For Utah Drivers

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A Bible quotation on the Golden Rule will be printed on state auto inspection stickers which must be displayed on all Utah automobile windshields in 1954. The text: "Therefore, all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them." (Matt 7:12).

It is part of a campaign to curb selfish driving habits which are blamed for many auto accidents.

Make gingerbread extra good by adding chopped pecans and a little orange rind to the batter. Serve it while it is still warm from the oven with an orange sauce. And if there are no weight watchers at your house, add a dollop of whipped cream. Luscious!

SALMON AND PEOPLE
PACIFIC COAST SALMON packers, including the Alaskan, are in a bad way. The fisheries have been so depleted that the younger generation of salmon seems bent on giving up the struggle to survive.

On the other hand, prices have risen until the cheap canned "goldfish" of the World War I doughboy has become something of a luxury.

The salmon problem is somewhat reminiscent of that of the Great Lakes fisheries after the small-mesh net—beg pardon, the lamprey—had decimated the once-abundant marine life of those waters. As with the Great Lakes, the salmon industry now plans conservation measures, with federal government aid of course, which may succeed in restoring the salmon runs.

On the whole, it would seem wiser to think of conservation while such measures still are reasonably sure of conserving something. No doubt many a salmon marvels at the stupidity of which humans are capable.

GOVERNMENT IS OUT
MORE THAN 200,000 WORKERS have been granted wage increases through settlement of a dispute between the railroads and the union. The new boost is five cents an hour, but an additional 13 cents now provided under the cost-of-living clause becomes part of the basic wage rate. Vacation pay is also increased for those with the necessary length of service.

Settlement was reached after only a week of negotiations and was the first since breaking away from government intervention. Once the men and management were able to deal among themselves, an agreement was quickly reached.

It is encouraging to see labor and management free from government meddling, and able to settle their problems between themselves.

SCARCELY NOTICED IN THE turmoil of larger events, a cross-country migration has been taking place surreptitiously in these United States. It's a movement of mosquitoes from New Jersey to California.

Pest control authorities meeting in Los Angeles evinced considerable concern in the problem. Mosquitoes and flies, it seems, have developed immunity to DDT and other formerly vaunted chemicals. Officials say an abundance of surface water provides breeding places for these pests—irrigation ditches for fruit and produce, swimming pools for bathing beauties and

news behind the news

WASHINGTON—A heavy handicap for the Republicans in this congressional re-election year will be the replacement of the many veteran political leaders whom President Eisenhower has drafted for service at Washington or abroad from numerous key states. In their struggles to achieve their present eminence, as was true in the time of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the distinguished absentees failed to groom heirs for successor positions.

New York, which has the largest delegation in the House, has furnished Attorney-General Herbert Brownell Jr. and Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee. The two are among the smartest manipulators of votes and campaign organizers in the country, with Brownell largely responsible for Dewey's two convention victories. Their loss from the local scene could easily mean the gain of several House seats by the Democrats, as well as Democratic assumption of power at Albany.

Governor Dewey's plans have not yet been disclosed. But if he does a disappearing act by refusing to run for re-election, he may transfer his activities to the Capital. In view of labor and race track scandals involving the GOP and despite Dewey's prompt cleanup moves, the loss of these such practical and skilled operators could mean that this banner state may become solid Democratic territory again.

FEDERAL POSTS—Alfred E. Driscoll, the retiring governor of New Jersey, rates a high place in the Eisenhower family, if he wants it. He was a leading member of the gubernatorial bloc that lined up behind Ike in the contest with the late Sen. Robert A. Taft for the 1952 nomination. From New Hampshire the White House has plucked ex-Gov. Sherman Adams, and from Massachusetts he has commandeered former Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge for United Nations duty.

California, which ranks second to the Empire State in congressional power, has also given hostages to the federal government at Eisenhower's summons. He has elevated the coastal state's finest Republican vote-getter, Earl Warren, to the post of Supreme Court Chief Justice. He personally chose Richard M. Nixon as his running mate. As in many other areas, the removal of these influential figures has precipitated new personal and factional rivalries that weaken the local organization.

DISORGANIZED—Although not so important as New York and California with respect to the size of its House delegation, the agricultural state of Minnesota presents the most dramatic example of the effect of the Eisenhower raids. The GOP there is so disorganized that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, the most radical Democrat on Capitol Hill, stands a good chance of re-election. Here is how the disgraced editor of a Minnesota newspaper describes the flight of the prima donnas from Minneapolis and St. Paul:

"For this development Republicans of Minnesota can blame Harold Stassen and the leadership he installed in the state central committee to continue his scheme of personality building at the expense of party building. Stassen is now not even a voter in Minnesota. He has a fat job with a big expense account."

"Luther Youngdahl, one of Stassen's crown princes, hand-picked to continue the system of building up men and ignoring party organization, has departed to a lifetime in a very green pasture. (Youngdahl accepted a Truman appointment to the federal court bench in Washington—Editor's Note.)

"After sinking the party in the state without a trace except for Mrs. Liz Heffelfinger, the Minneapolis millionaire socialite and global fixer de luxe, who is still on the job, probably to officiate at the senatorial obsequies next summer before flitting to Europe to settle a few world problems, the party-wrecker (Stassen) will not be here for the senatorial contest when the Party in the state will be making its last stand for representation in Washington."

Few Republicans throughout the country are not yet willing to talk or write as frankly and as bitterly as Stassen's indignant critic. But the migration of so many of their big men to the Capital, as well as their patronage disappointments at Washington, account for a great deal of the professionals' complaints against the harassed men in the White House. All is not quiet or happy along the Republican front.

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days

The problem that has always faced government by the direct consent of the governed is that the political mind too often is more interested in obtaining the consent than in government. In a word, politicians want to be elected and re-elected.

The nature of New Deal legislation is that both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Truman were involved in depression and war. Mr. Eisenhower, on the other hand, faces a condition of prosperity and a liquidation of war. At best, the New Deal was a protective against failure of a civilization; at worst, it was an attempt to produce a Marxist revolution without the consent of the American people.

President Eisenhower was elected not to continue the New Deal but to arrest its movement and to change the course. His slogan was, "It is time for a change."

Mr. Roosevelt was so glamorous that a large element of the American people believed that he was serving them as well as he could in troubled times. They demonstrated this judgment by electing him four times to the Presidency.

Mr. Truman inherited Roosevelt's errors of judgment and the consequences that flowed therefrom. He knew that Roosevelt had opened the door to a motley crew of subversives, but a partisan loyalty paralyzed normal repugnance for such persons. If Mr. Truman says that he rid the government of spies, subversives and queers, he should produce as evidence a list of those whom he dismissed prior to investigations by Congressional committees and the scandals attending them.

Mr. Truman's inhibition is a characteristic of one of the major weaknesses of representative government, for what is involved is a conflict between principles of life and being elected. Disclosure of the espionage apparatus, of the operations of subversives, of the infiltration of government by a foreign foe would have defeated, as it did, the party in power, Mr. Truman's party.

It would have been a repudiation of Roosevelt. So Truman called it a "Red Herring" and accepted the blemish. He issued his 1948 order sealing files that would have produced the truth.

The Eisenhower Administration faced no such responsibility and no such loyalty to individuals. It could have thrown out the spies, subversives and queers upon assuming office. In his first State of the Union message, President Eisenhower indicated such a purpose by saying that employment by government is a privilege, not a right.

His Administration was paralyzed by the Civil Service and Veterans Preference. It was again a struggle between principle and being elected. In each department of government, powerful pressures were exercised to keep so-called experts in office. For instance, Herbert Brownell, Jr., Attorney General, had it as his purpose to use the law to eliminate spies, subversives and queers from the government.

He is ardent in anti-Communism. However, as his chief assistant, a politically conscious lawyer, William P. Rogers, was appointed, who weakened the cooperation between the Department of Justice and the Congressional committees that had developed when James McGranery was Attorney General in the Truman Administration.

Boric Acid Can Poison Infants

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

BORIC ACID has been a perennial favorite for the treatment of skin irritations and infections of the eye.

However, indiscriminate use of this time-honored remedy does, every now and then, result in serious and even fatal cases of poisoning. Many of these cases result from the absorption of the boric acid when it is applied to cuts, wounds, or skin diseases. A large number of these cases occur when infants are treated for diaper rash with boric acid. It seems that boric acid is readily absorbed by wounds.

Physician's Diagnosis

The physician can usually make a diagnosis of boric acid poisoning when he sees an infant who has a diaper rash and also diarrhea and vomiting. Questioning the mother most often reveals that she has used some form of boric acid on the rash.

If enough boric acid is used, the child will have a large amount of bloody diarrhea and vomiting. This will result in a loss of the fluids necessary in the child's system and may cause shock, coma and even death.

Transfusions Given

It is very difficult to treat boric acid poisoning.

The Quest by ELSIE MACK

CHAPTER ONE

SOON, TOO SOON, it would be spring ...

From her bedroom window, Dale Fraser stared out at the bright white night. She was twenty-three; too young for the curve of her body to hold so solitary a grief, so desolate a passion.

In the full of the moon, the black line of open water far out on the frozen surface of Lake Couchiching formed an illusory horizon, and great chunks of breaking ice driven grumblingly before an onshore wind were starting to pile up on the fringing edges of the beach.

Tomorrow, the thick-ribbed ice would be honeycombed with narrow fissures; the widening water line nearer the shore. Tomorrow, spring would be one day closer.

Dale turned abruptly away from the window and began to undress. Last year the seasons had come and gone unnoticed; the reviving grass, the delicate white of the cherry orchard, the meadows lively with daisies—all had come and gone without her knowing or caring.

For Kelly was dead.

There was no way of stopping the noisy breakup of the ice, but suddenly Dale hated the unruly wind for pushing back the walls of her detachment. Had her grandfather, with his unerring prescience, foreseen this when he had urged her to send Kelly's manuscript to the publishers in New York? Wise old Grandy, so deft in subtle hints and long silences, and sudden gruff ultimatums! Undoubtedly, he had anticipated the prompt summons from Carruthers and Scott for a personal interview; he surely must have known that she needed a reprieve, if only a temporary one, from April in Swanscombe this year, without Kelly.

Three days ago the call had come. Grandfather had handed Dale the receiver, saying cheerfully for the benefit of every receiver off its hook on the party line, "New York, girl. It's about Kelly's book, most likely. What else'd they be calling us for?" And so, voice, scowling at her fiercely under the thick white brushes of his eyebrows, "If they want you to go, go—You hear me?"

The word had hit Dale like a blow, for behind its vehemence, she was aware of Grandy's kind hand pushing her away from the shelter of home and everything she knew and loved.

By now, everyone in the village knew that she was leaving in the morning. Almost as soon as she hung up the receiver the neighbors had started calling. New York, hey, Dale? Well, you be sure and come back, now! ... Room in your bag for some of my gingersnaps, Dale? ... I'm making a batch of my brandyballs. I'll bring you a boxful to tuck in your bag.

By twos and threes they came to say goodbye. Even Armorel Crossland, for years a recluse in her big brick hilltop house—even Armorel came, with a shy gift of meringues, and for once the customary blank look was gone from her deep-set dark eyes. Her, "Goodby, Dale," had a clarity unlike Armorel's usual vagueness; it had a sound of finality.

As if I were going away for the rest of my life and never coming back, Dale thought. She stared at Armorel, wide-eyed and a little frightened until, hearing Grandmother's casual explanation that of course Dale was coming back to Swanscombe, she relaxed. It was not until later that Dale recognized a similarity in Armorel's goody and Grandy's go.

Surveying the kitchen table with its array of gifts, Grandy marveled greatly. "Do they think you can't get anything to eat in New York? Coals to Newcastle, ain't it, with all them automats? See here, Dale—want I should get that old Army trunk of mine out of the attic for you?"

"That relic," scoffed Dale's grandmother. "Up there unused since the Volstead Act! The hinges are rusted to lace. Besides, no one thinks for a minute that Dale will take all this with her. Things from the heart aren't easy to talk about, and there's more in them cakes than sugar and shortening. There's love." She gave Dale an oblique look, her eyes widening almost in belligerence. Then, in a voice infinitely gentle, she said, "Do you want me to help you with your packing, dear?"

"Thank you, Grandmother, everything is ready. Grandy," she turned to him, "I'd really rather take the car than go by train."

"And get snarled up in that city traffic?" he objected. "No, take the train. I'll feel safer about you."

Grandmother made a helpless movement with her hands as if at a loss for words. Then, half defiantly, "I made you a fruitcake. Just in case, come bedtime in a strange hotel, you're peckish."

Dale's eyes filled. "Darling, thank you. I'll find room in my bag for that. And I—I do know all the love that is here for me. Yours, and everyone's." Emotion deepened her voice. "I do know, Grandmother."

Why, then, was she going away in the morning and leaving it all behind? Lifelong friends, with the instinctive knowledge that the solitude of grief could not be shared or intruded upon, had offered her their love, and Dale was grateful for their thoughtfulness in never saying a careless word. Kindness could be clumsy and cruel, but no one in Dale's hearing had yet said, You are young, Dale. You will come alive again. You did not die with Kelly.

Could she expect that solicitude from strangers? How could she endure the impersonal measuring eyes, and face the casual appraisals a young and pretty widow almost certainly would evoke?

Dale clenched her hands at her sides between the smooth percale sheets. There was still time to change her mind. As long as she stayed right here, she was safe.

But the organically fared into the room, the air smelled of open water, the wild and ardent wind blew across her face. Denying its message was as unavailing as arguing with the inevitable.

A knock came, and the door opened slowly inward.

"You asleep, Dale?" her grandmother whispered.

Dale unclenched her fists. "Come in," she said.

The hall light outlined the older woman's comfortable roundness. She had on Grandy's flannel bathrobe over a demure Mother Hubbard nightgown, and her two black braids hung thick and childlike over her shoulders. The nightly ritual of one hundred brush strokes had never in all the years been relaxed. Grandy, brushing Grandmother's hair when her arms were stiffened with what she called her wet-weather joints, often said, "She'd no more sleep without her currying than without her prayers!" But such pride was in his voice that his banter was another among all the avowals of his love.

A lifetime together, Dale thought, as her grandmother sat down on the foot of the bed. All Kelly and I had was two years. Why? Once it had burst from her unreciprocally, the passionate question assaulting with envy, almost with hatred, her grandparents' half century of marriage. Why against Kelly's name the fatal asterisk of death? Just tell me why, Grandmother!

Gay Throng Enjoys Annual New Year's Ball At Elks

Approximately 100 Couples Celebrate

Continuing a long existing custom, the local Elks club entertained its members and out-of-county guests at their annual New Year's Eve Dance. This has been one of the outstanding social events of the holiday season for many years.

Dancing out the old year and welcoming 1954 were approximately 100 couples. Among them were many out-of-county guests and college youths and girls home for the holiday vacation. Also furloughed youths from the armed services attended. Of the latter was James I. Smith, III, the newest member of the local Elks lodge who was initiated into Elksdom at a special initiation service held Tuesday afternoon.

For the occasion the ballroom was gaily decorated in green and white streamers with red bells and multicolored balloons. Dress was optional but many formals were in evidence, making a beautiful dash of color.

As has been the custom at past affairs, dancing was stopped at the stroke of midnight. After a short recess refreshments were served in the diningroom.

Rhythmairs, a dance combo of 10 pieces from Chillicothe, played from 10 until 2 a. m. and was thoroughly enjoyed by one of the largest crowds that the local club has ever entertained.

Among the many out-of-county visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Byers, Columbus, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Henderson; Mr. and Mrs. William Whittington, Harrisburg, with Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeVoss; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baughman, Marysville; with Mrs. Baughman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Chalfin. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Liston, Circleville Township, had his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Liston of Mansfield as their guests.

The successful affair was in charge of members of the house and entertainment committees of the club with Robert Wood as chairman. Other members of the committee are Harmon Bach, Paul Thompson, Robert Liston, C. G. Chalfin, Dave Olney, Sterling Poling, Frank Wantz and Gene Barthelma. In charge of decorations were Paul Hang, Marshall Winner, Richard Bowers, Dr. David Goldschmidt and Glen Hines. Much of the success of the affair was due to the untiring efforts of James Carpenter and his staff of helpers.

There were several pre-dance parties entertained in the various homes and following the dance Mr. and Mrs. William E. Crist of Washington Township entertained at breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace Crist, Dr. and Mrs. William Rickey, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kibler, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hott, Mr. and Mrs. George Myers and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Howard.

Five Points Group Enjoys Yule Fete

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Five Points Methodist Church held their December meeting and Christmas party Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Herman Porter, with 15 members answering roll call and several guests and children present.

Mrs. Francis Furniss read the scripture from Luke 2:1-14 followed by prayer by Rev. Herbert Rickerts. The president, Mrs. C. D. Hosler, had charge of the business session and election of officers with the following results: president, Mrs. Harvey Brigner; vice-president, Mrs. Elbee Jones; secretary, Mrs. Francis Furniss; treasurer, Mrs. Scott Carpenter, and flower and cards committee chairman, Mrs. Charles Parks.

A gift exchange was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Mrs. Porter, assisted by Mrs. Turney Sheets.

The January meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Raymond Hanawalt.

Symptoms Of 'Lost Yearend' Easy To Chart With Good Inventory

NEW YORK (AP)—Did you bump into anybody on the way to work today? And did it kind of puzzle you, as your eyes were wide open at the time?

Well, don't let it worry you. You're just another victim of the "lost yearend." Practically everybody is suffering from the same ailment. Check your own case by these common symptoms:

1. An overwhelming desire to work yourself into a lethargy instead of a lather.

2. An urge to postpone decisions of any nature, including even the question of replacing a broken shoestring.

3. A feeling that life can be beautiful, but who wants to go to the bother of changing it when it looks okay as it is?

4. A dreamy wonder about what the boss's stenographer would do if you hit her on the nose with a spitball—that is, if you felt like lifting your arm to throw a spitball.

5. An absence of all ambition, and a general sensation of well-nourished contentment, as if you were floating under a tropic sky in a sea of warm turkey gravy.

Anybody who has these symptoms is normal and there is no need to rush off to see a psychiatrist. For if you didn't yawn while telling him your troubles, he'd be sure to yawn while listening to them.

The calendar should list this as National Sleepwalking Week, as it is the period when everybody just goes through the motions of his daily life without exactly knowing why.

The real purpose of this lull, of course, is to rest up from saying "Merry Christmas" so you'll have the strength to say "Happy New Year" with a forceful air.

If man had the common sense of the woodchuck, he would crawl into a hole, pull the hole in after him, and fall asleep. But man must pretend to go through his normal "hit that line" routine, even though he really is kidding nobody.

In most offices this interlude between holidays is a week of unofficial vacation. The boss knows it, but there isn't much he can do about it, as he is a victim of "year-enditis" himself. If he tried to give his sales staff a pep talk, it would wind up in a snore.

It is a time when all that even the go-gettingst go-getter can do is go get lost. The unfulfilled dreams of 1953 are now in the wastebasket. The goals of 1954 are still in the desk drawer.

A fellow makes a conscientious stab at his job, and what happens? Everything goes wrong. The important papers you want you can't find. The guy you want to reach on the phone has gone South.

Everything is in abeyance. We stand relaxed on a bridge between a year and another year, kind of worn out by the year we're leaving forever and drawing a big deep breath before plunging into the year ahead.

So let us enjoy the haze of these final days and close them in a pleasant doze—if we can get away with it. For when we take a look at the new calendar, everybody will start jumping as if time had lit a firecracker under him, and the slogan again will be:

"On, Elmer, on!"

Anybody want to buy a used Christmas tree?

Baked pears make an out-of-this-world dessert when they are served with a custard sauce, made with brown sugar, and toasted nutmeats.

"This Is the End of the Trail"

There are no regrets — opining — nothing but thankfulness from the bottom of my heart. God placed me, on this earth, into the hands of very poor but respectful and pious parents—the first and greatest blessing that can befall any child. He led me into a vocation that I loved, placed in me sufficient talent that made my customers "Call again".

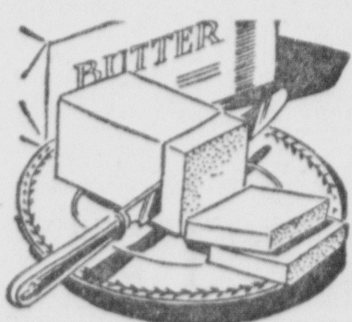

He gave me many years of strength and energy to do my utmost in whatsoever I undertook and by this strength and energy I acquired success far beyond my greatest hopes and dreams. This Jan. 1st, I close in full my 58th year of business life and 3¾ years before of learning the trade. I want you to remember though, that the Rose stem is covered with thorns before the bloom appears, for Joy and Disappointments, intermingled, make the full life.

But "Time" and the "Reaper" take their toll and I must take my hand off the plow and in all humility bow to the inevitable. In all probability this will be my last New Year letter to you, not in sadness but in happy anticipation I lay down my tools. You have been so very good to me and let me assure you, you have my deepest appreciation. May God bless you and mine with a happy and prosperous New Year, and again, God bless us.

The unknown heirs, devisees, legatees, assignees, executors, administrators, legal representatives, and widow of William Clair, deceased, whose places of residence are unknown and cannot be ascertained, will take notice that on the 30th day of December, 1953, the undersigned Kenneth M. Robbins as administrator of the estate of William Clair filed his petition in the Probate Court of Pickaway County, Ohio, alleging that the personal property of the estate of William Clair is insufficient to pay the debts and costs of administration of the estate of William Clair, and that it is necessary to sell the real estate of the estate of William Clair in order to pay the debts and costs of administration of his estate.

The real estate is described as follows:

Situated in the State of Ohio, County of Pickaway, City of Circleville, and being Lots Nos. 869, 870, & 871 of the lots of the City of Circleville, Ohio, according to the revised numbering thereof.

The prayer of the petition is that the rights, interests, and claims of said defendants may be fully determined, adjusted and protected, and that said Kenneth M. Robbins as administrator of said estate may be authorized and ordered to sell said William Clair's undivided one-half interest in said real estate to pay the debts and costs of the estate of said Charles Clair according to the statute in such cases made and provided, and for all other proper orders and relief in the premises.

The defendants named above are required to answer on or before the 30th day of January, 1954.

Bevo Francis Leads Scorers

NEW YORK (AP)—Bevo Francis, finally established as a big league in college basketball circles, maintained the nation's top individual scoring average among the small schools last week.

The sensational star of the Rio Grande, Ohio, five has tossed in an average of 43.9 points per game. He made 131 field goals and 89 free throws for 351 points in eight games.

Statistics released today by the NCAA Service Bureau also show that Vince Leta of Lycoming is second with a 36 point average followed by Carson Lovett of Franklin and Marshall 35.8 and Jake Handzelek of Juniata 32.8.

Sokolosky's These Days

Similarly in the State Department, where a clean sweep would have been welcomed by the people, a paralysis set in even to the protection of un-American elements and the persecution of pro-American personalities in the U. S. Information Agency. This paralysis is inexplicable because John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, is a student of the Marxist conspiracy.

In the Department of Agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, the most competent Secretary of Agriculture in a generation, presides. He started to clean house with vigor. He enunciated a program of saving agriculture from its own errors and protecting the economy of the nation.

Suddenly he was paralyzed by the aggressive political pressures from self-serving groups. He has been fighting back with astonishing combat but not with too much success.

Most republics in history have failed on this one issue, namely, that after the politicians have learned to bribe the people with bread and circuses, or to put it in current terms, with glamor and subsidies, the people learn to prefer glamor to principle; they learn to prefer subsidies to a sound economy. No nation can stand too prolonged a dose of these opiates.

The heart, that is the moral stature, of the nation degenerates and dies.

This is our major political problem in this year 1954 and the Eisenhower Program may meet it.

Munn Whispers He's Quitting Post

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Speculation over the fate of Biggie Munn, coach of the Michigan State team that beat UCLA in the Rose Bowl yesterday, was stirred today by a "whisper."

Off-The-Bench Tackle Colors Cotton Bowl

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Alabama's Tommy Lewis may have added a new one for the book of blunders yesterday with his 12th main tackle in the Cotton Bowl, but he has lots of sympathy.

"I feel sorrier for him than I can say," said Rice's Dicky Moege, who was spilled in the midst of an obvious touchdown run by Lewis' bruising tackle straight from the Crimson bench.

There were some boos immediately following the incident, but when Lewis came back in a few plays later the crowded stadium applauded as he and Moege shook hands.

"I'm too emotional," Lewis said. "I know I'll be hearing about this the rest of my life."

And he probably was right since grid fans were immediately reminded of the 64-yard wrong-way Roy Rogers run in the 1929 Rose Bowl. The California center grabbed a Georgia Tech fumble and was saved from scoring for his foes only by a teammate's tackle on the one-yard line.

The Lewis incident was not the first 12th main tackle in Bowl history. Tommy Harmon of Michigan, while romping for a TD in the Rose Bowl many years ago, had to sidestep an anxious California fan to avoid being spilled.

Big Ten Cage Teams Return To Home Tilts

NEW YORK (AP)—The Big Ten basketball teams come back to their homes tonight for the opening of the conference season and the lust of the holidays, tournaments ends in Owensboro, Ky.

Duquesne, the No. 2 team in the country and winner of the New York Holiday Festival, takes time out to demonstrate the game to the University of Michigan.

Indiana, the defending NCAA champion which lost for the first time last week, visits Michigan and Purdue is at Wisconsin but the major Big Ten interest will be centered on Champaign, Ill., where eighth ranking Illinois entertains sixth ranking Minnesota. Minnesota suffered its first defeat earlier in the week against Kentucky while Illinois also has been beaten once, by Oklahoma A&M.

Holy Cross, the Sugar Bowl champion, returns home for an inter-sectional engagement with Alabama. The Crusaders currently are ranked 12th but probably will move up on the strength of their New Orleans' success.

The All-American City Tournament in Owensboro, last of some 30 holiday competitions, matches Maryland against Kentucky Wesleyan in tonight's final.

New Year's action was scarce but in a major upset Seton Hall lost its first home game in 47 starts dating back to the 1950-51 season. William and Mary beat the Pirates 57-55.

Michigan State And Oklahoma Star In Bowls

Rare Performance Recorded In Cotton Tilt By Alabama Sub

NEW YORK (AP)—Oklahoma and Michigan State boasted impressive victories today over two of the nation's leading defensive teams, national champion Maryland and UCLA.

Oklahoma, ranked No. 4, defeated the one-touchdown favorite Terps 7-0 in the Orange Bowl for the only form reversal yesterday.

The Spartans, No. 3, put on a scorching second-half drive to come from behind and give the Big Ten its seventh victory in eight Rose Bowl past appearances, 28-20, over UCLA.

But the day's oddity belonged to the Cotton Bowl match in which an Alabama player leaped off the bench to tackle a score-bound runner. Rice got the touchdown and the victory, too, 28-6.

Georgia Tech captured its third straight post-season triumph 42-19 at the expense of West Virginia in the Sugar Bowl and Texas Tech rallied for a 35-13 trouncing of Auburn in the Gator Bowl with Bobby Cavazos scoring three touchdowns.

Individually, Oklahoma's half-back Larry Grigg, Michigan State halfback Billy Wells and end Ellis Duckett, All-America Paul Cameron of UCLA, Rice halfback Dickey Moege and Tech quarterback Pepper Rodgers were among the standouts.

In the Orange Bowl the Sooners, who gained more ground than any other team all season, showed Maryland they were masters at defense as well. Twice in the first half they stopped the Terps inside the 10 yard line. And in the final period Grigg halted the last Maryland threat by intercepting a pass in the end zone.

Maryland had allowed the least yards by rushing of any team but the Oklahoma's churned 80 yards in 11 plays for the game's only score. Grigg took a pitchout from Gene Calame and went 26 yards for the tally.

The previously unbeaten Terrapins had the use of quarterback Bernie Faloney for only five plays. An injured left knee kept him sidelined until late in the third quarter and he never returned after a Maryland drive stalled on the 30.

UCLA, a three-time Rose Bowl loser, held a 14-0 edge early in the second quarter when Michigan State began to explode. Duckett broke through to block a kick, the first time this has ever happened against a Red Sanders' coached Bruin team, and recovered it for a TD.

Wells then led a second half ground assault that tore to shreds a defense rated the sixth best against rushing during the regular season. His 62-yard punt return late in the game iced the decision.

Earlier Leroy Bolden and Wells had scored to climax earth-bound marches of 78 and 73 yards.

Cameron was splendid in defeat as he scored once from the two and passed for the other two UCLA touchdowns.

In Dallas, Alabama fullback Tommy Lewis gave his team an early 6-0 lead but really made bowl history when he got up off the bench midway in the second period to tackle Moege at the "Bama 42 on a run which had started on the Rice five. It marked the first incident of its kind in major post-season competition.

Officials ruled it a 95-yard touchdown play and Rice was ahead 14-6. Moege, putting on an unprecedented Cotton Bowl performance in which he gained 265 yards in 11 tries for a 24 yard per try average, also had touchdowns of 79 yards and 34 yards.

Poised Pepper Rodgers took advantage of a leaky West Virginia pass defense to toss a trio of scoring passes in the highest scoring affair in Sugar Bowl annals. Tech had gained 233 air yards by halftime and when the Mountaineers reorganized their defenses the Techmen attacked their flanks to complete the rout.

In other games Texas Western swamped aunted Mississippi Southern 37-14 in the Sun Bowl, LaCrosse Teachers and Missouri Valley fought to a 12-12 tie in the Cigar Bowl, Ft. Ord (Calif.) romped over Great Lakes 67-12 in the Salad Bowl and Prairie View stopped Texas Southern 33-8 in the Prairie View Bowl. In a night game, East Texas and

Tips Given On Best Ways To File Report

Farm Economist Outlines Method For Holding Own

It's that time again—time to pull out your records to play that annual game of seeing how much income you can keep for yourself and how much you have to give to Uncle Sam.

It's wise to know how Uncle Sam figures his share, because you do the figuring. You get no stars on your chart for paying too much income tax. Nor is it smart to pay too little!

The following tax tips save money for one of America's biggest farm-management companies and may work for you, too.

A farm economist for the Farmers National Co. says that the "carry back" or "carry forward" law is coming in for close attention, particularly by cattle feeders.

H. L. TINLEY explains that if you lost money on your farm this year you can carry the loss back to last year and get an adjustment on taxes you paid in 1952. After offsetting this year's loss against last year's income, any unused loss can be subtracted from your income next year.

If you plan to divide family income, says Tinley, keep these things in mind:

"It's always wise for husband and wife to split income. . . .

"If you plan to divide income among minor children, have a guardian appointed and see that the children's share goes into a guardianship account. If you don't follow this system, no matter how good your intentions are, you may have trouble with the commissioner. . . .

"The revenue bureau takes a dim view of an even split of income among father and sons if all put in the same amount of labor but only the father has capital invested. . . .

What can you depreciate? As Tinley puts it, you can depreciate just about everything but your wife! Depreciation is the cost of wear and tear on your buildings, equipment, tile lines, fences and the like.

REMEMBER these important tax-savers:

1. Operating expenses, such as machine hire, feed and taxes, are deductible. Such expenses are charity, alimony and doctor bills are personal deductions.

2. Farmers often would like to sell grain one year and show the income the following year. There are limitations to this and you should check with your tax expert.

If you store grain, hoping for a better market, keep your storage ticket as evidence that delivery was for storage and not for sale.

3. When you receive money from a commodity credit loan, you can treat it as current income or hold it until the grain is delivered, even though that is next year. Once you start out one way you have to stick with it.

Don't worry about your tax in January and forget it the rest of the year, emphasizes Tinley. Your lawyer, the commissioner of internal revenue and state college tax experts can make recommendations that you can follow all year. They can suggest ways to save taxes, some of which aren't found on the tax instruction sheet.

Record books, approved by the revenue bureau, can be secured from the agricultural colleges and extension offices. Get one and keep it up to date. It will be the best assistant you can find when income tax time rolls around.

OBSERVING ITS FIFTH birthday anniversary in Circleville, General Electric Lamp Works has awarded five-year service pins to 20 of the original 78 employees hired in 1948 when the plant began production. Receiving special award pins were (above, sitting left to right) Martha Hohenstein, Mary K. Hoffman, Mary A. Buskirk, Faye E. Davis, Kathleen Z. Dodd, Frances G. Seymour, Helen Walters; back row (left to right) Leonard L. Campbell, Thomas L. Starkey, George Skaggs, James T. Carter, Barbara A. Ritchie, Florence Stahr, Wayne E. Stewart, Ralph DeLong, Carroll Lee Cook and Ralph J. McCain. Not shown are Gertrude B. Kempton, Mary F. Poling and Marvin C. Justice. The plant now employs more than 500 persons. E. G. Grigg, plant manager, in reviewing the changes to date, recalled that six of the eleven men who were in the original supervisory and engineering staff are here at the present time. They are: himself, H. W. Diehl, C. T. Vaughan, A. R. Boerner, R. A. Jacek and H. B. Spencer. The present supervisory and engineering staff is twice the size of the original one and includes five of the men originally hired as hourly rated men. They are: C. O. Hart, C. W. Seymour, G. W. Sparks, C. R. Stinard and J. B. Trimmer. Grigg also said General Electric is pleased to have located in this community. The products made by this plant are new and the plant has shown considerable growth in the last year.

Williamsport Girl In Guernsey Club

The American Guernsey Cattle Club has announced the acceptance of Mary Kathryn Recob of Williamsport to the ranks of its nationwide junior membership.

By qualifying as a junior member of the AGCC, Miss Recob earned a membership certificate and special low rate Guernsey registration privileges. Approximately 900 young people from all over the United States have been accepted for membership in the organization since the program started last June.

To be eligible for junior membership in the AGCC, young people must be individual owners of one or more purebred Guernseys, and at least one of the animals must be registered or become registered at the time the youngster's application for membership is processed. Applications for membership must be indorsed by the state 4-H club leader, county agricultural agent, vocational agricultural supervisor, or an adult member of the AGCC. Headquarters of the organization are at Peterborough, N. H.

Chamber Picks 1954 Directors

President Wes Edstrom of Circleville Chamber of Commerce has announced the election of 14 directors of the organization for 1954. The chamber's past president also serves on the board of directors.

Edstrom said directors were chosen by a mailed ballot to all members. Deadline for return of the cards was Dec. 28, and results were held for an additional few days to make certain all the eligible votes were tallied. The directors for the new year were listed as follows:

Henry Reid Jr., Elliott Barnhill, Joe Wilson, Jim Yost, John Evans, Durward Dowden, Paul Brown, M. E. Noggle, Paul Johnson, Roy Marshall, John Magill, Howard Smith, Ed Grigg and Joe Burns. The 1954 board of directors will take over their duties officially at the chamber's big annual meeting in February.

India Lacks Food

COLUMBUS (AP)—India's primary problems are lack of food and unemployment, two International Farm Youth Exchange delegates report. They are Harold R. Rittenhouse of Delaware and David O. Fowler of Ashville who recently returned to Ohio from a tour of Indian farms.

Soldiers Qualified In Basic Training

Headquarters of the U. S. Army's 3rd Armored (Spearhead) Division reported Saturday on the progress being made by two more district residents enrolled in the famed unit.

Basic combat training for the division's recruits, under way at Fort Knox, Ky., has been completed by Pvt. Kenneth L. Russell, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Russell of Ashville Route 1, and by Pvt. Robert L. Hill, 18, son of Mrs. Chester P. Hill of Circleville Route 4. Both men underwent eight weeks training for the preliminary course.

They attended classes on basic military subjects and were trained in the fundamentals of combat, including the firing of basic weapons. After 10-day leaves, they will receive additional specialized training before they receive their permanent assignments to an army outfit.

PIGS AND PROFITS

Getting pigs up to market weight in the shortest period of time is a major problem with swine producers. They know that economical feeding plus rapid growth is the key to the profit treasure chest.

The critical nutritional period starts with the unborn pig and continues until the farrowed pigs reach a weight of 75 pounds each. To assure a better start toward earlier, profitable market weight, many successful hog raisers feed
